Date June 6 1935

C/Commissioner of Police.

Sir,

Proposed Changes in Special Branch

In order to relieve congestion in the offices of the Special Branch in the new building, it will be necessary to transfer the Boarding-House Section to the office originally intended for Film Censorship and to divide the staff of the latter section between the Translators' Bureau and the Registry in both of which offices there is some vacant space.

The Boarding-House Section will then be on the 3rd floor and the Indian Section on the 2nd floor. I propose subject to your approval, to place these two sections under the same officer.

This arrangement will increase the efficiency of S. 2 as the section specially intended for dealing with Communist matters, and will not interfere with the efficiency of the Boarding-House Section or its usefulness to D.C. (Crime) and the Special Branch.

The efficiency of S. 2 will be increased by relieving the officer in charge of S. 2 of miscellaneous duties not strictly within his province, such as inquiries regarding applications for licences, locating of people lost, checking records of applicants to join S.V.C. Russian, Unit, etc. etc.

The efficiency of S. 2 will be maintained because D.S. Sansom will remain in immediate charge under D.S.I. Golder. Both of these officers have had several years' experience in the Crime Branch and Special Branch.

Special Branch,

Commissioner of Police.

Sir,

I wish to bring to your notice that 2 years and 3 months have elapsed since all Communist work was transferred to S.2. I attach herewith the report which I submitted on the subject at that time and it will be seen that the soundness of the arguments put forward in favour of the change has been demonstrated by many cases which occurred since then, notably in the Moulens case, which showed that Foreigners of various nationalities were working in close co-operation with the Chinese leaders of the Chinese Communist Party, the Communist Youth League case and the Military Committee case which also demonstrated the close co-operation which exists between Communists of Chinese nationality on the one side and Foreign and Asiatic Communists, other than Chinese, on the other. The various issues of the China Forum also help to show the very close co-operation which exists between Chinese and Foreign Communists.

Besides ensuring complete co-operation among the officers who deal with Chinese and Foreign Communists, the change has resulted in the creation of machinery for the detection of Communist activities which will be available irrespective of the attitude of the Chinese Authorities and improvements in the working of Communist cases and compilation of statistics which entitles the Special Branch to claim a high measure of efficiency in these respects.

I therefore recommend that the change be made permanent and shall, subject to your approval, issue orders regarding the duties of S.2 in accordance with a draft I have attached.

I suggest that this draft shows that the duties of S.2 are of a very comprehensive and important nature and I therefore recommend that the officer in charge of this work should hold the rank of Superintendent or at least Chief Inspector.

Special Branch,

D. C. (Cr. & Sp. Br's),

It has come to my notice recently that the French Police are better equipped for obtaining information about Communists and Communist activities than the Police of the Settlement. The work there is entrusted to the 2nd Division of the Political Section which makes inquiries into all Communist activities, both Foreign and Chinese, and attends to examination of papers and documents obtained in searches on Communist premises or otherwise. The 2nd Division appears to be able to obtain from day to day through informers who are directly in touch with the Communists information regarding the main plans of the Communist Party. The report made daily by the 2nd Division under this heading would cover about three full size sheets of typewriting paper if closely written. The report contains items of special information and an analysis in precis form of important features of information contained in documents found in searches on Communist bases. Other duties of the 2nd Division comprise inquiries of a general nature about foreigners.

The advantages over us which the French Police possess at present in regard to Communist inquiries are undoubtedly mainly due to the larger sums of money which they spend on regular agents and casual informers. The system of having all Communist affairs, both Chinese and foreign, dealt with by the same members of its staff, however, gives them a great advantage. As this change could be adopted in our Special Branch without any additional expense, I recommend that it be effected forthwith and that the section of the staff of S.1 now engaged on inquiries, etc. re Chinese Communists be transferred to S. 2 whose other duties regarding inquiries about Communist matters and foreigners generally correspond to those of the 2nd Division of the Political Section of the French Police.

I am making this recommendation after having given the matter a great deal of thought. Apart from the manner in which I have been influenced by my observations of the work of the 2nd Division of the Political Branch of the French Police, I have concluded that the change would lead to greater efficiency for the following reasons :-

1. The activities of Communists of Chinese and other Asiatic nationalities such as Koreans, Formosans, Annamites, Japanese and Malayans become more closely interlaced from month to month and the directing hand of foreigners either in close proximity or at a distance is discernible in almost all their activities.
2. As a consequence of the foregoing orientation of the movement tasks frequently have to be performed which requires the attention not only of officers who understand the Chinese language and Chinese Communist affairs, but also in the principal European and certain Asiatic languages other than Chinese.
3. If the officer in charge of S.1 follows the various ramifications of the Communist movement with all the attention which this subject deserves, he is almost certain to be obliged to neglect some of his multifarious other important duties. The officer in charge of S.2, who at present has no work involving continuous concentration, however, could easily do so. In view of the heavy responsibility on the officer dealing with Communist affairs, it is only fair that the officer assigned to this work should be allowed to devote practically all his time to it. This is specially necessary at present in view of the danger to which the members of the public are exposed through being wrongly accused of being Communists in consequence of the hostility which the atrocities committed by "Reds" has aroused towards all Chinese of that cult and all persons accused of being in sympathy with them.

4. The necessity of having the officer in charge of S.1 free to devote all his time to military, naval, labour, political and general Chinese matters in view of the potential consequences of any attempt which the Chinese Government might make to give effect to its threat to abolish extraterritoriality and the popular agitation which might arise in Shanghai in connection with this or matters in which Chinese residents as a whole disapprove of the present policy of the Council, etc.etc.

The significance of the first argument is exemplified in the handbills in English, French, Japanese and Annamite languages addressed to members of the local defence forces. This propaganda appears to be the work of persons of the different nationalities named, but is distributed by Chinese whose methods,etc. indicate that they are acting on behalf of a common source.

As regards the second argument, I would like to say that the Special Branch has for many months been endeavouring to trace the source of "Red" propaganda in English which has been sent from Shanghai to various cities in other parts of Asia, Europe and America, but so far have not been able to establish whether it is the work of Chinese or foreigners.

The arguments of the past for centralizing labour and "Red" inquiries in one section have now largely if not entirely disappeared, as a consequence of the existence at present under Government guidance of a popular trade union movement with appropriate organizations.

W. Givens

Officer i/c Sp. Branch.

I have thought this for some time & agree this is a better arrangement. but the officer in charge must be one of S.B. Inspectors for the present.

Combined investigations to date, with the exception of that discussed, have been most satisfactory and the information obtained by the Special Branch details of the greatest value, none the less it is of the utmost importance that where Crime investigation is in hand such investigation be given priority and that in each and every case of this nature, and without special instructions in each case, Special Branch do nothing without first informing the officer i/c Crime Branch investigation.
